

WESTERLY MAN'S BODY FOUND

Michele Disandiss Drowned While Bathing in Quarry Hole—Captain E. P. Sisson Saves a Life—Millmen Entertained at Warwick Club—Brutal Husband Arrested—Directory Man Comments on Town's Mortality.

When the Green Hill life-saving station, now being built by the R. A. Sherman Sons company, of Westerly, is completed, Charlestown beach will be patrolled by a government life-saving crew. The station will cover the coast from the Point Judith patrol to the east, while the patrol to the west will be to the Charlestown beach, the eastern terminal of the patrol of the Quononochaug station. The shore Rhode Island by the new station is one which has heretofore been necessarily neglected by the life-savers, as the territory could not possibly be covered by the life-saving crews on either side, although wrecks in that location have been frequent.

That a life-saving station is building at Green Hill is due to the activity and influence of Capt. Herbert S. Knowles, who readily realized the need of the new station, which is evidenced by the pieces of wreck of schooner John Paul now scattered along the shore from Green Hill to Charlestown pond. Captain Knowles is superintendent of the Third life-saving district, which includes the stations on the Rhode Island coast and the one at Fishers Island.

The station is located two and one-half miles from Charlestown beach, and about the same distance from Matanuck, and the contract calls for the completion of the structure November 1. In appearance the new station will be similar to the station at Watch Hill, the most modern and conveniently arranged station in the Rhode Island district. Its location on the high land at Green Hill, which is the horn of one of the crescents into which the beaches of Charlestown and South Kingston shape themselves, makes it a prominent view point for many miles east or west of the station.

Although Edward P. Sisson recently resigned the captaincy of the Fishers Island life-saving station, he has not abandoned life-saving for he was on duty when the body of William Cunah was rescued from the west shore of Stonington harbor.

Just in time. Some Norwich People May Wait Till It's Too Late. Don't wait until too late. Be sure to be in time. Just in time with kidney pills. Means curing the back. Before backache becomes chronic. Before serious urinary troubles set in. Doan's Kidney Pills will do this. Here is Norwich testimony to prove it. Mrs. Henry Dearing, 439 Main St., Norwich, Conn., says: "I suffered terribly from back pain and kidney troubles. I think they were due to disordered kidneys. I was always in great misery when I lay down and was often unable to sleep. Morning sickness arose I felt so stiff and lame that I could scarcely get about, and if I stooped sharp twinges shot through my joints, making it hard for me to straighten. At times my face was so badly swollen that my eyes were closed. Although I was treated by physicians I obtained no benefit until I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their use improved my condition in every way, in fact, to so great an extent that I felt like a different person. My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills warrants me in recommending them in the highest terms."

The body of Michele Disandiss was taken from an abandoned quarry hole, known as the John Thompson quarry, adjoining the Crumb quarry company property where deceased was employed, in the village of Bradford, town of Westerly. He boarded at the Cababos in Puckham Hollow, saying that he was going to the quarry hole to wash his overalls, when he left the boarding house Sunday morning. As he did not return, search was made for him and his clothing was found in the morning near the quarry hole, in which there is a depth of twenty-five feet of water.

The work of dragging the quarry hole was commenced and in a short while the body was recovered. Dr. J. Howard Morgan, medical examiner, was notified. Dr. Morgan made thorough examination and investigation and is of opinion that death was caused by accidental drowning while bathing. Disandiss was thirty-three years of age, of robust build, and there is nothing to indicate that there was any violence in connection with the death. The body was taken by Undertaker Murphy to be prepared for burial. Disandiss leaves a widow and three children in Italy.

Boleslam Wietorek was arrested late Sunday night by Deputy Chief Brown, upon complaint of his wife, Waleria Wietorek, who charged that her husband had returned from New London in a drunken condition and had beaten her unmercifully and she said she believes he would have killed her if she had not escaped. The family resides in John street, and when the complainant told officer Brown the story, her face and clothing were smeared with blood and her hair was disheveled. She claimed her husband struck her in the face, causing her nose to bleed and then took her by the hair and pounded her head upon the floor.

Officer Brown immediately proceeded to John street and took Boleslam to the Third district court. Local Laconics. Harry O. Williams is on vacation this week, and he will spend in Middletown and Hartford.

The directory man, who has been making annual visits to Westerly for twelve years, has stated that there have been more removals by death of business men during the past year than at any time during his visiting period.

The exhaust from the new engine at the Westerly Light and Power station is annoying the nearby residents. It has been somewhat subdued by a muffler since Saturday, but the noise will be wholly eliminated as soon as other parts of the machinery come.
